Summary of Key Issues
This report is to inform the board, through an example, of how clinical disagreement about a complex case can be managed through the risk (governance) processes of the trust. A consensus of view does not always occur when a difficult clinical scenario is being managed. The case to be discussed represents a situation where members of the MDT did not see things from the same perspective and concerns were raised as to whether or not a serious incident had arisen. The presentation describes how this disagreement was worked through.
